

QMG acquires KT Paloturvapalvelut and expands in the fire safety area

QMG acquires KT Paloturvapalvelut Oy, which offers fire safety services mainly in Helsinki region and Southern Finland as well as through selected projects and contracts across the country.

KT Paloturvapalvelut serves municipalities, property owners, shopping centres and apartment buildings with fire safety and building safety services. Their portfolio includes fire prevention, smoke extraction, safety and signal lights, fire alarm systems, fire extinguisher maintenance as well as expert services and maintenance for civil shelters. KT Paloturvapalvelut employs 30 people and their turnover in 2022 was approximately 2.4 million Euros.

KT Paloturvapalvelut will join QMG Partners network, which consists of eleven companies in the Helsinki region and Southern Finland. The acquisition has no effect on personnel or customer contracts. The entrepreneurs Joona Timonen and Pertti Kekkonen will join the ownership programme of QMG's parent company Nimlas Group.

– The importance of security services both for people and buildings is increasing. Joona's and Pertti's strong team perfectly complements QMG and brings us more capabilities in the fire safety sector. The company's expertise and customer service are widely recognized, says Pekka Pöykkö, CEO of QMG Partners.

Managing Director Joona Timonen has been working in the property safety business for 16 years and Technical Director Pertti Kekkonen for 35 years. They founded KT Paloturvapalvelut in 2017.

– Our mission is to improve the fire safety of properties. They require systematic maintenance, service and inspections, Joona Timonen states.

KT Paloturvapalvelut inspects and modernises hundreds of civil shelters annually. In 2022, they signed a contract covering the maintenance of the City of Helsinki's 800 civil shelters.

– We have been growing quite fast and we need to hire more people to our team. Fire safety work cannot be automated very much – the expert must go and see the places and work on the site. Regarding our growth, QMG Partners and its network present us with excellent cooperation opportunities, Timonen and Kekkonen confirm.
